Faculty of Medicine

Two full-time faculty positions in Care of the Elderly are available in St. John's. These positions provide an academic salary to enable the candidate to balance the expected scholarly activity in education, leadership, and research with their existing personal clinical commitments in Care of the Elderly. These positions are eligible for promotion in accordance with Faculty of Medicine guidelines related to strong performance in education, leadership, research, and clinical excellence. These positions are anticipated to commence June 1, 2024, subject to approval.

Academic responsibilities include undergraduate and residency education in Care of the Elderly within the Discipline of Family Medicine and the Faculty of Medicine. Priorities for these positions include resident support, resident assessment, policy development, curriculum development and faculty development within the Care of the Elderly Enhanced Skills Program.

Candidates must be certificants of the College of Family Physicians of Canada and must hold a certificate of added competence in Care of the Elderly from an accredited residency training program. Candidates must be eligible for full licensure by the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Newfoundland and Labrador. Candidates must currently be doing clinical work in the area of Care of the Elderly. Attainment of an advanced degree in either research or education is an expected component of the position being offered.

Memorial University is committed to employment equity, diversity, inclusion and anti-racism, and encourages applications from all qualified candidates, including: women; people of any sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression; Indigenous peoples; visible minorities and racialized people; and people with disabilities. All applicants are invited to identify themselves as a member of an equity-deserving group(s), as appropriate. Applicants cannot be considered as a member of an equity-deserving group(s) unless they complete an employment equity survey. Memorial is committed to providing an inclusive learning and work environment. If there is anything we can do to ensure your full participation during the application process please contact equity@mun.ca directly and we will work with you to make appropriate arrangements.

The Discipline of Family Medicine is one of the largest disciplines within the Faculty of Medicine at Memorial University. It is an exciting, dynamic environment, with a focus on community connections and a commitment to health. Our faculty members have a broad range of interests and work, including in the areas of Indigenous Health, care of underserved populations, care of the elderly, rural health research, and more. The discipline strives to guide the next generation of physicians into practice and advance health through leadership in socially accountable education, research, and comprehensive patient-centred care.
